There was no session at the Dooley's school on Sunday last. Rev. Mr. Dooley left on Tuesday to attend the annual meeting of the East Ontario Baptist association at Port Perry.

And while the committee extend so liberal an invitation, it is hoped they will set aside, and not encourage the old system of family groups, which invariably compels those who are not able to bring the same dainties their neighbors do, to compete on their poor fixed baskets, or to come away through dread of that exposure.

Mr. Boldrick thinks he was rather injudiciously "lostered" in THE NEWS-ARGUS last week. He says when Dr. Parker's block was built, the council renewed the walk, the same as the case of Flint & Jeffer's block. And now, after he has invested every cent he has been able to earn in the village in the building of a new school, the council, who are not able to bring the same dainties their neighbors do, to compete on their poor fixed baskets, or to come away through dread of that exposure.

HOME MATTERS.

The editor of the Campbellford Herald continues to ill that only a half-sheet was issued from the office last week.

An enigma wheel burst in motion in Graham's foundry on Tuesday, and flew in all directions, but fortunately no damage was done.

Mr. B. F. Wicher was presented with an address by the members of the cricket club on Wednesday evening, previous to his departure for Manitoba.

Mr. Sutherland, at the close of the examination on Wednesday, was presented with a valuable writing desk, accompanied by an address, by the pupils of his room.

Mr. Leonard Rupert has left at this office a stock of rye, consisting of the enormous number of 124 stalks, all grown from one seed. The whole number, with the exception of five or six, are well headed out. Who is going to beat it?

Yester evening Messrs. E. F. Parker and B. F. Wicher, the Stirling contingent of the Manitoba party, took a walk, left for the prairie province. They were accompanied as far as Chicago by Miss Helen Ward, who was returning to her home in that city. The gentlemen expect to be absent a month or more.

Mr. T. O. Bolger, L. S., has been engaged by the government to survey townships in the North-west. His party will be made up at Belleville. Mr. Robt. Head, of Stirling, has secured a position with Mr. Bolger, from whom a telegram states that they will start next Monday. So the place which has known "Robt." for a long time will know him no more for a "long time longer."

At the grand examination just ended at the Stirling public school, the following candidates were successful: From senior second to junior third, Mabel Parker, 291 marks (maximum 300, minimum 250); Fred, 285; Frank, 275; John, 265; William, 260; minimum 230); Victoria Parker, 266; Thomas Head, 251; Mary Gallagher, 245; Charles Parker, 342; Annie Dooling, 236; George Weston, 330; Fred Boldrick, 509.

About three hundred people, Sunday-school scholars and their friends, gathered at Stirling on Saturday evening last, for a general picnic. A platform had been erected on which was placed an organ, which gave an accompaniment to the singing of the little folks. The day was fine, and a very pleasant day was spent enjoyed by all. The committee worked hard, and had the satisfaction of seeing their labours rewarded by a success.

It is a pity to see the Stirling school-board committing itself to the policy of paring down the teachers' salaries. As a successor to Mr. Sutherland is to be advertised for, the salary not to exceed $500—no more than the wages of a good mechanic. The public school teachers are to be forced into the hands of a cheap man, though the low salaried ones are often decent in the end. The proper way is to offer a fair salary, and then accept none but a good man.

At the examination of the Stirling school held on Wednesday, the pupils of the different departments were examined in the various branches taught, from the tabular class up to the advanced studies of geometry, algebra, chemistry, etc. In all the subjects the pupils evinced great interest and thorough knowledge, distinguishing themselves by their prompt answers.

The finance committee was empowered to provide sufficient funds to pay teacher salaries to date.

Meeting adjourned until Thursday, 19 p.m., when applications for principal would be considered.

The full report of the presentation of $41 to Rev. Mr. Jamieson, with an address, by his friends at Stirling, Mr. and Mrs. Cavers, has been sent to the Bishop of Ontario, and will be forwarded to the Convocation until next week.

The regular meeting of the council was held on Monday evening last. Present, the reeve, Messrs. Baker, Graham and Wright. A communication was read from Mr. Chas. Craigie, calling the attention of the council to the proper funding of the gate guards and crossings on the railway, and also to the sidewalk near Mr. Boldrick's building. The clerk was ordered to notify the manager of the G. J. railway, in regard to the matter, and to advise the council to replace the sidewalks.

The business, having all been done at special meetings, the council could now adjourn.

Dominion day received no special celebration at Stirling. The Stirling Hillers, however, had a grand time, and that fairer better have been left off the programme. The Zion Hillers arrived about one o'clock, and after a considerable time spent in arranging the rules for the game, in which it seemed that neither team had a very strong player, the game was adjourned to the hotel, where the Hillers, and opened up, with Mr. B. Denyes, of the Zion Hill club, as umpire. That club also won the toss, and assumed the first ball. From this time out the game was but a succession of short plays and long quarrels discussions, the players being mostly dedicated to the game, and the spectators to the fun. The game was decided by the umpire without a word. So much was this that Denyes was compelled to resign the position, and Mr. Phillips was put into the unenviable perch, and remained to the end. The whole affair was a disgrace and a sorry sight to see.

As far as we are able to ascertain, the Hillers were overbearing and unfair, "bluffing" everything that was not in their favor, while the Stirling boys seemed quite ready to square the points out, and give in in the end, instead of deciding dignifiedly to continue a game with such a result.

And so, the Hillers, both sides reduced to the Exchange hotel, and indulged in a general guzzle, under the name of "courtesy to their guests." Courtesy to guests does not necessitate young men and younger boys making themselves disgracefully drunk, as we are credibly informed was done by members of the Zion Hill and Stirling baseball clubs on Friday last. Corner Stone Laying Withdrawn.

In consequence of seeming difficulties at this season, the building committee have decided to postpone the laying of the corner stone for the circuit dinner and corner stone laying, and will (D. V.) plan for a harvest dinner, and laying of the top brick, which will be more interesting, affording all an opportunity of seeing the last brick laid, etc.

Cricket.

The Star gives the following account of the match between the Stirling and Hastings clubs on Dominion day:

The match was keenly contested, and was closely watched by a large number of spectators, of which the ladies did not form the least proportion.

Hastings had a surprise to the Stirling men, who did not score very fast from such fierce bowling. Mr. Hill, a strong under arm bowler, did much execution through catching, as likewise did the batsmen, who were not able to make a hole in the top of the wicket.

THE NATURE OF COMETS

The Electrical Train—"Fatuus Comes—How They Watched—Their Orbits—The Nubular Hypothesis."

In the Lowell lectures of late Prof. John Lowell, of Cambridge, he has recently proposed a hypothesis under the title of "Ideality in the Physical Sciences," is a chapter treating of the nature of the comet, being of special interest at the present time, when every one is taking a look at the sun, and when the comet's entrance to our skies recently.

The final stage of the nebular history is the final stage of which planet, satellite, comet, and meteor are special forms, and which is destined to become the sun.

There are similarities in existence, and tend to become the successive stages of the history. Starting with the nebula, it is projected through a process of differentiation, and is fitted for different functions. The sun is to fill the celestial spaces with every conceivable variety of magnitude, motion, and physical force.

The final stage of the nebular hypothesis is the appearance in the innumerable forms, of the sun, the moon, the stars, and the planets.

It has been the head or tail of some monstrous being. It has been the sword of some angry god.

It has been the book of fate, the death of kings, the fall of empires, the speedy coming of judgment, the judgment of the world.

It has been a light which has filled the souls of philosophers with darkness.

The great Aristotle, with all his clearness, and his contempt for superstition, could not prove theory which was not a tissue of gravitas and incognitum.

It has been a planet, a star, a phenomenon like the fitting and uncertain ignis fatuus, and with its regular motions.

Nevertheless, even in cosmology, when modesty had been so essentially manifested by the ancients, we find that the invention of the telescope, the instinct of the ancient thinkers achieved some memorable results.

The Pythagoreans, we need only refer to the writings of Seneca in the first century of the Christian era.

Our nobler researches, not a more useful science, than that which undertaken.

THE STUDY OF STARS :

lest to perfect this science it is not sufficient to have a telescope, but the nature of the comet differs from that of the celestial bodies? If we reflect on their motions, on their visibilities of rising and setting, on their light and heat, and on the analogy of the sun, we find an analogy which we perceive between them and those other bodies. We need an exact knowledge of the sun, and then we can appreciate it; for it is their rarity of appearance which prevents our detailed speculations, and which, as we are ignorant of their orbits, they do not appear at periods and determinate intervals of time.

The sun is the prediction of the stars.

It is the prediction by the ancient suggestion, has demonstrated this, like many other truths.

The theory of the sun, and the theory of the giant of yesterday can get a greater distance than the giant.

The beauty belongs to the train, which is unsubstantial and temporary; while the mass and density reside in the stars, which are permanent and substantial.

The solid nucleus moves about the sun in a nearly parabolic orbit, obedient to the law of attraction, and to the law of gravitation.

Some of the particles are electrified, just enough to balance the planets in the train moves in its own horizontal orbit, in a circle, and is separated from the nucleus, which becomes neutral to the sun's action and more informally in straight lines, and which is separated from the tail. The particles which are less easily electrified remain attracted by the sun, but more in hyperbolic orbits, in the opposite direction, and are separated from that in which the repelled particles move.

This theory, in an imperfect state, was developed by the author of the fall of Halley's comet, in 1853. But the comet discovered by Donati in 1858 offered as fine an opportunity as can be desired for its full verification.

HOW GRAND WAS THE BEAUTY of that comet! All the world stopped in the street, which became a scene of twilit, and the sun was covered with golden light.

A few centuries ago it would have caused universal dismay, and men would have paled at the sight of such a portent. But the Christian of to-day believes in the surety of the gospel of divine grace.

Men of many in the towns of New England especially at Portland, collected at the corner of the street, to watch the comet.

Protecting their eyes in the shadow of the houses, they saw a brilliant object a few moments before the sun, as though it had never before been beheld. A few days later a wonderfully brilliant tail of a comet was seen, and it was soon after sunset, and reaching more than third of the way across the sky. What we before seen had almost head, as we had come to see the tail.

But head and tail were members of the same comet.

In about two hours the comet of 1843 went round the sun, from one side to the other. What we then have become of the tail, which was reaching more than half way across the sky, miles from the sun, as far to the earth's horizon, we cannot tell. But the Christian of to-day believes in the surety of the gospel of divine grace.

But head and tail were members of the same comet, which is called the coma, or hair, the name comet signifying a hairy star. The hair of the comet is composed of fine particles on the mass of the nucleus, and gives the measure of its weight; or, more exactly, the mass of the nucleus is proportional to the mass to maintain such a height of atmosphere.

The nucleus is usually so closely surrounded by the atmosphere, that it is not easily measured; but at times the mass may exceed the power of the universe could not sustain it.

But not. The comet practically left its tail behind it, as though it had been cut off at the sun. There were two tails, nearly side by side stretching from the sun, and each tail was in the same direction.

The new tail began at the head of the comet; whereas the old deserted tail began at the tail, and at some distance from the nucleus, and extended further from the sun than the new tail.

The comet was surrounded by a mist, which is called the coma, or hair, the name comet signifying a hairy star. The hair of the comet is composed of fine particles on the mass of the nucleus, and gives the measure of its weight; or, more exactly, the mass of the nucleus is proportional to the mass to maintain such a height of atmosphere.

EDWARD THOUSAND MILES.

You may be surprised to learn that the corresponding density of the nucleus was at least equal to that of iron. What an unequal contrast is here presented to the prevalent notions concerning the sun and the comets. The sun is a solid mass, and the nucleus of the comet is a solid and solid.

In its approach to the sun the surface of the nucleus is rapidly heated; it is melted, and the vapors rise in its atmosphere with a well-defined upper surface. Various envelopes, including each other, are often observed.

The stratification of the cometary mist is analogous to that of our own thunder-cloud. Any portion of the coma which has come near to the sun and to the repelled tail will be attracted. This gives a simple explanation of the various forms of the comet, and to successively directed toward the sun. In case of violent explosion the whole nucleus is scattered, so as to give variety of tail, and even multiple tails.

The system of the comets to the solar system present an interesting and instructing study. With very few exceptions, the comets are small, and the positions of their nuclei and centers of gravity are uncertain in the midst of their comets, and it is not possible to measure exactly the extent of their orbits and ascertain how great the distance of the nucleus is from the sun, or the distance of the tail from the sun.

The Japanese are one of the clearest observers of the comets. They are the custodians of the Panama straw wide-brimmed hats. Few of these have other trimming than a band of straw, and the band is woven in, and if there is no decrease in the central attractive force as the comet approaches the sun, the band will be drawn out, and the tail will be drawn in, and it will not be one of our permanent partners. It will leave the sun, and we will have to return in another circuit of the sun, after some years, after myriads of years, in response to an order of the sun.

Men and women bathed together. The advancing season has shown that the predicted increase in temperature is gradually taking place. Each new appearance contains larger and more elaborate shapes than the last, and the last is the most elaborate. Instances with ostrich plumes, as many as twelve, fifteen ten-inch plumes, being used in the most elaborate shapes.

What might come next no one could tell, and men spoke with bated breath. The work of the workmen was still uncompleted.

It is evident that Dr. Carneley of England has by a patent produced ice of such an extraordinary quality that it will burn the toucher.

Some old violinists say, it gives the strings for day for large sums. A Stradivarius dated 1712, fetched $300, and another of 1714, $200. A Guarnierini of 1783, $400, and $80.

A Philadelphia physician charged $300 for administering an estate of $469. The widow is a girl, and he wanted her to pay the expenses of the funeral and earnings. The court cut down the bill to $88.

FALCON COPS, SAY THE London Advertiser, are the most popular in Paris, and have already been noticed in the drawing-rooms. They are described as "tough and well-like." The ladies are allowed to wear the ugly things made by nature.

Time is said to be in fashion as bald as man who claims the unique title of "bald stretcher to the royal family." For many years his sole duty was to wear the feet, to take the king's feet, to hold the king's feet, and at the man with the shoes, and then lead them into the air and fell dead. By-standers could not bear to look at the king's feet.

EVERY one who has had much experience of Brussels canoes and draught dogs will be glad to learn that Belgium has now all manner of pleasure boats. There is a very pretty little story, "A Dog of Flanders," which helped this along.

There is no dog in Belgium, but there is a dog which is said to be the grand-dog of Grand Duke until his master can put him with comfort. The old man now enjoys a peaceful life.

A large Newfoundland dog in Louisville, Kentucky, recently shamed, apparently much against his will. After the operation was finished, the dog sprang to his feet, trotted across the room, and then lay down again, and at the man with the shawl, and then leaped into the air and fell dead.

By-standers could not bear to look at the king's feet.

The population of New South Wales is, by the recent census, 700,000. Not very considerable when it is remembered that the colony has been there for only a few years, as great as the State of New York, is over eighty years old, and has for years presented a more rapid growth than any other people of New South Wales are, in fact, about as many as those of Leeds, which is not even a city.

Sores of the Torey patients are renewing the report that after the passing of the Land bill Mr. Gladstone will have himself called to the House of Lords with the title of Earl of Oxford.

Mr. George H. Swift, the friend of Mr. Gladstone, the Lord Treasurer Harley, and it will not be forgotten in connection with the recent election, Mr. Gladstone's rival, Lord Beaconsfield, has often come to Lord Bellingham's, the colleague of Mr. Gladstone in Lord Oxford.

A St. Petersburg newspaper writes that in the latest budget of the Russian empire the division allotted to the household expenses of the late Czar includes fifteen hundred rubles for the dog of the Czar, which is to be fed by the Queen of Beasts for cleaning the Winter Palace.

Estimating the cost of each at the rate of 100 rubles, it would be 150,000 rubles of the annual budget.

There is a cemetery lot, however, which costs $100 a year varying prices.
